Scott Walker Email List

Even before he ran for president, Governor Scott Walker had amassed a huge national network of online donors which was the envy of the political fundraising world. These committed donors helped him survive a bitter recall and they jumped at the chance to support his presidential campaign because they know exactly what is at stake in 2016 -- and they want to make sure conservative values triumph. These savvy GOP donors respond to everything from traditional conservative messaging to urgent deadline-oriented appeals. When you need to raise online money fast, this list is the way to go.

This list is great for conservative candidates and organizations.
